In today's volatile economy, the steady hand of a practiced partner can be your most valuable asset. You want confidence that your investment adviser will stay the course.

That's exactly what you get from KDV Wealth Management. We're committed to your success. Most importantly, you'll benefit from our signature personalized service.

On Nov. 1, KDV Wealth Management CEO Dave Hinnenkamp lent his expertise to Bloomberg Radio, explaining that ...

- Bad news from Citigroup and Exxon Mobil set the tone for a negative day on Wall Street. The focus on the housing market also played a part – in recent days, if housing is a dominant issue, the market seems to have a bad day.
- Consumer spending during the holidays will be the next economic driver. Consumer confidence has fluctuated wildly this year, going from a six-year high over the summer to a two-year low more recently.
- Although oil company earnings have fallen, any problems there are short-term in nature.
- The earnings season is shaping up about as expected. The earnings aren't as robust as in previous quarters, but are still respectable.
- The technology sector holds promise for investors.
