KDV Continues its Expansion in the Twin Cities

Minneapolis, Minnesota: Effective August 1, 2009, Minneapolis-based Techfluent, will join Kern, DeWenter, Viere, Ltd. (KDV), a regional CPA and business advisory firm. The merger broadens KDV's portfolio of expertise, services and clients as it continues its expansion in the Twin Cities. Techfluent specializes in outsourced information technology consulting, focusing on network design and implementation, remote and onsite support, managed network services and network security.

“We were drawn to Techfluent because of its reputation in the Twin Cities market,” said Loren Viere, Managing Partner of KDV. “They are an excellent complement to KDV in terms of expertise, services, client base and commitment to client service. Techfluent provides services that are in line with our core business offerings. Their values and how they create ROI for their clients align well with the “KDV experience”.

“We are excited to join forces with KDV and continue our commitment to serving customers in the Twin Cities. Our combined expertise will give us an immediate opportunity to pursue greater strategic objectives in order to further our position in the market.” said Tim Ernst, CEO of Techfluent.
